A. Public Comment:

- Doug Satterfield, a Galloway resident and grandfather, sent a letter with attachment to the full Board prior to the meeting. Mr. Satterfield read portions of his letter during his public comment. He requests the Board to reject the new Gender Theory standards. (Communications attachment)
- Diana Ramos, whose son attends 8th grade, sent an opt out form for her child to the principal. She read the state guidelines from the Department of Education and said she was told the student life topics do not begin until second period, however, she wants opt out starting now for all topics requested as well as details about what activities her son will be doing in place of curriculum. She is otherwise happy with the school district.

Dr. Giaquinto responded and clarified that opt out details will be shared in time.

- Laura Kane, who has students attending Arthur Rann and GTMS, stated that her son shared that a list was sent home which included an overview of topics. She asked if the opt out was for some lessons or all.

Dr. Giaquinto responded that parents will have the option to select all or specific topics.

Mrs. Kane said there is a lack of communication at GTMS in comparison to Absegami and Arthur Rann. She requested the district communicate with GEHRSD more and visually show support.

Mrs. Carmen responded that she would like to hear ideas and share them through Dr. Giaquinto.

Dr. Giaquinto responded that she does not agree that communication is lacking and gave examples of recent topics.

- Nancy Silvestri, a Galloway resident, asked:

- 1) Are boys allowed in girls' changing rooms if they identify as girls? What happens if the girls are uncomfortable?
- 2) Are health teachers fired if they refuse teaching the new curriculum?

Dr. Giaquinto responded that scenarios are handled based on the law and assuring all children are comfortable. Staff can be reassigned where they are certified. Supports are being given to staff as well as professional development and the chance to provide input.
